Subject: Re: Update

From: marline drake (pondersendfestivals@gmail.com)

To: re_wired@ymaii.com;

Date: Saturday, 24 August 2013, 23:16

Hi Simon,
have you forgotten our last chat today bro?
Not goanna patronise you but I did explain today my position of what I thought we had provisionally agreed.
I had in mind a budget of £200 per day and obviously that's why I was happy to see you.
was originally only for always for Monday but then we started talking about the possibility of Sunday, which you know is not my main concern as they have always been responsible for their own power provision. They expressed an interest in having a generator and as you requested that you need to understand their requirements, which they have never provided it was not something that was likely to happen.

You phoned me about 3 times today to say you were unhappy because you thought you were getting 2 days hire. So, for you I spent time and arranged that you could do tomorrow but under the understanding that they might need power for 1,2,3 or 6 stalls, I do not know and their guy could not tell me. So not sure what to say about that as it's a lot of work for 1 or 2 stalls but if you want to do it kool.

the Space Ball was always an extra component which I was happy for you to bring if it wasn't impacting on my budget as it's not something I really need but you said you wanted to give one of your guys a chance to do something, so I was up for that.
Once again today I made a 'speech' for you and got a FREE pitch tomorrow with the money being for your own pocket.
As for monday, to be honest bro, it's not something I can be paying for but once again I will take the flak and give you a free space if you want it.

I can't say fairer than that right now. I know you've invested in your setup but you must understand you can't make it back on 1 job.
At the rough rate of £250 per day (including man) I will try and probably can get you more jobs and get you recognised as a local resource but you have to work with me bro and not try and kill me on this one.