Morning Lorraine,

Thanks for your reply, appreciated.

You're right, we don't know for sure that he has not received the letter, even if he had moved he may have had his post re-directed etc.

I had considered contacting him at his workplace and it does seem like the most efficient way to proceed.

I shall discuss the matter with my inspector and revert to you with a decision.

Speak soon

Hello Jamie

Maybe you can send to his work email I believe this is his work email address
roy.geoghegan@centreforsocialjustice.org.uk well that's what it says when I do a Google search on his name.

Maybe you could also get a phone number for him there not sure; but if you sent to his work email you would know he got it or if you called and was able to talk to him you would know if he even wanted to help in this, Maybe he has had the letters but know he does not need to help if he does not want to, maybe send someone round to the address you have. This is just some ideas not sure if you can use them.

Regards

Lorraine Cordell

Hello Lorraine,

I hope this email finds you well.

Alas I've heard nothing from PC G, now I am entertaining the possibility that he may have moved.

As such, I will briefly examine ways in which to confirm any potential new address before going on to write
