Dear Mr Cordell

Offence of used a motor vehicle without insurance on 01/01/2014
Date of conviction 28/07/2014

Thank you for your email received on 12/09/2014. You state you did not know about the court hearing until after the court had started to hear the case. You may be able to make a statutory declaration that you were unaware of court proceedings.

You have 21 days from the date on which you became aware of the case to make a declaration. If the court decides that it was not reasonable to expect you to make the declaration within this period, it may accept a late declaration made out of time.

You can make a declaration at your local magistrates' court and must attend in person to make the declaration. It can not be done in your absence.

If you make a declaration which you know or believe to be untrue, you could be convicted of perjury, a criminal offence punished with imprisonment of up to two years. Any financial impositions and penalty points remain valid and enforcement of financial impositions will continue until a declaration has been made.

Following the making of a declaration, the prosecution may decide to restart proceedings and the summons may be reissued. You could be given another court date when the matter will be heard.

Yours sincerely,

N Williams-Burton
Administration Officer

Above is a picture of the reply where you say I have 21 days to file a statutory declaration due to me being unaware of the court processing.

I did not know about this court case. I have been wrongfully convicted and have points on my licence, which should not be there.

In the email dated the 12/09/2014, I asked for my case to be listed in order that I could do the following

1. Application to set aside the conviction
2. Re-open the case
